To follow Jesus requires more than just believing in the message or life of Jesus. The apostle Paul in writing to Christians in Rome made it clear that faith calls for the linkage of all of life into Christ.

"I urge you . . . to offer yourselves as living sacrifices . . ."

In an age caught up with a therapeutic self-focus, we too easily can slip into viewing following Christ as a means of feeling better about self. Indeed Christ does bring us personal and inner wholeness. The mistake is when we conclude that our life in Christ is primarily for that.

President's Address

Theologian and pastor Dietrich Bonhoeffer wrote from his Nazi prison cell words which resonate into the halls of those in this 1998 graduating class: When Christ calls you, He calls you to die.

As you graduate, passionately follow Jesus of Nazareth by a commitment of your entire life. Belief followed by the sacrifice of all of life to His call is so radical that it may be a means of calling this generation into understanding the eternal and profound life offered only in Christ Jesus.

Pam checks to make sure the sneaky student leaders haven't run off with the chocolate for the smores yet

"I'm quite happy where I am. I don't need a tent! Who cares about rain and bugs?" (Sharolyn has her own way of camping)

Leaders in the Outback...

(tl) Christy and Cathy come to the conclusion that shoes don't taste too bad after all. Matt, Trish and Simon have yet to be convinced.

(tr) "I can't stand being single anymore!" Steve then tracks down his girlfriend and gets married. Congratulations, Steve!

(c) Even though Christy is smiling on the outside, she knows that if anyone in her tent even thinks of snoring, she may hurt them. Cathy reads her mind and moves indoors.

(t) Becky is secretly addicted to her pillow. It reminds her of Ozzy... well, maybe not.

(bl) I'm glad someone other than me finds the shoe interesting.

(br) And you know what? They never stopped snoring the whole time we were there. Sad, isn't it?

Into the Great Wide Open, Dock Spiders & All

Now that I've gone on a leadership retreat, I still don't feel like the preconceived "leader" notion I'd had. I feel like I've gone on a camping trip with a bunch of friends. It was a good way to get to know everybody. The week before orientation week we stayed at a cottage in Halliburton owned by the Harm family. "Nature" was everywhere: the lake, the friendly chipmunks, the raccoons, the loons, the menacing dock spiders, and, yes, the leeches (Sorry, KJ!). The weather was great. Everyday we discussed the theme of passion for godliness. Thanks, everyone! Matt. Simon, did you ever finish that chess game?

Leadership Retreat

Dale and Steve are really feeling at home during the student council retreat at the lovely Nancy Doughty's. Steve looks a little too comfortable...

These people aren't afraid of any big, black dock spiders, are they?

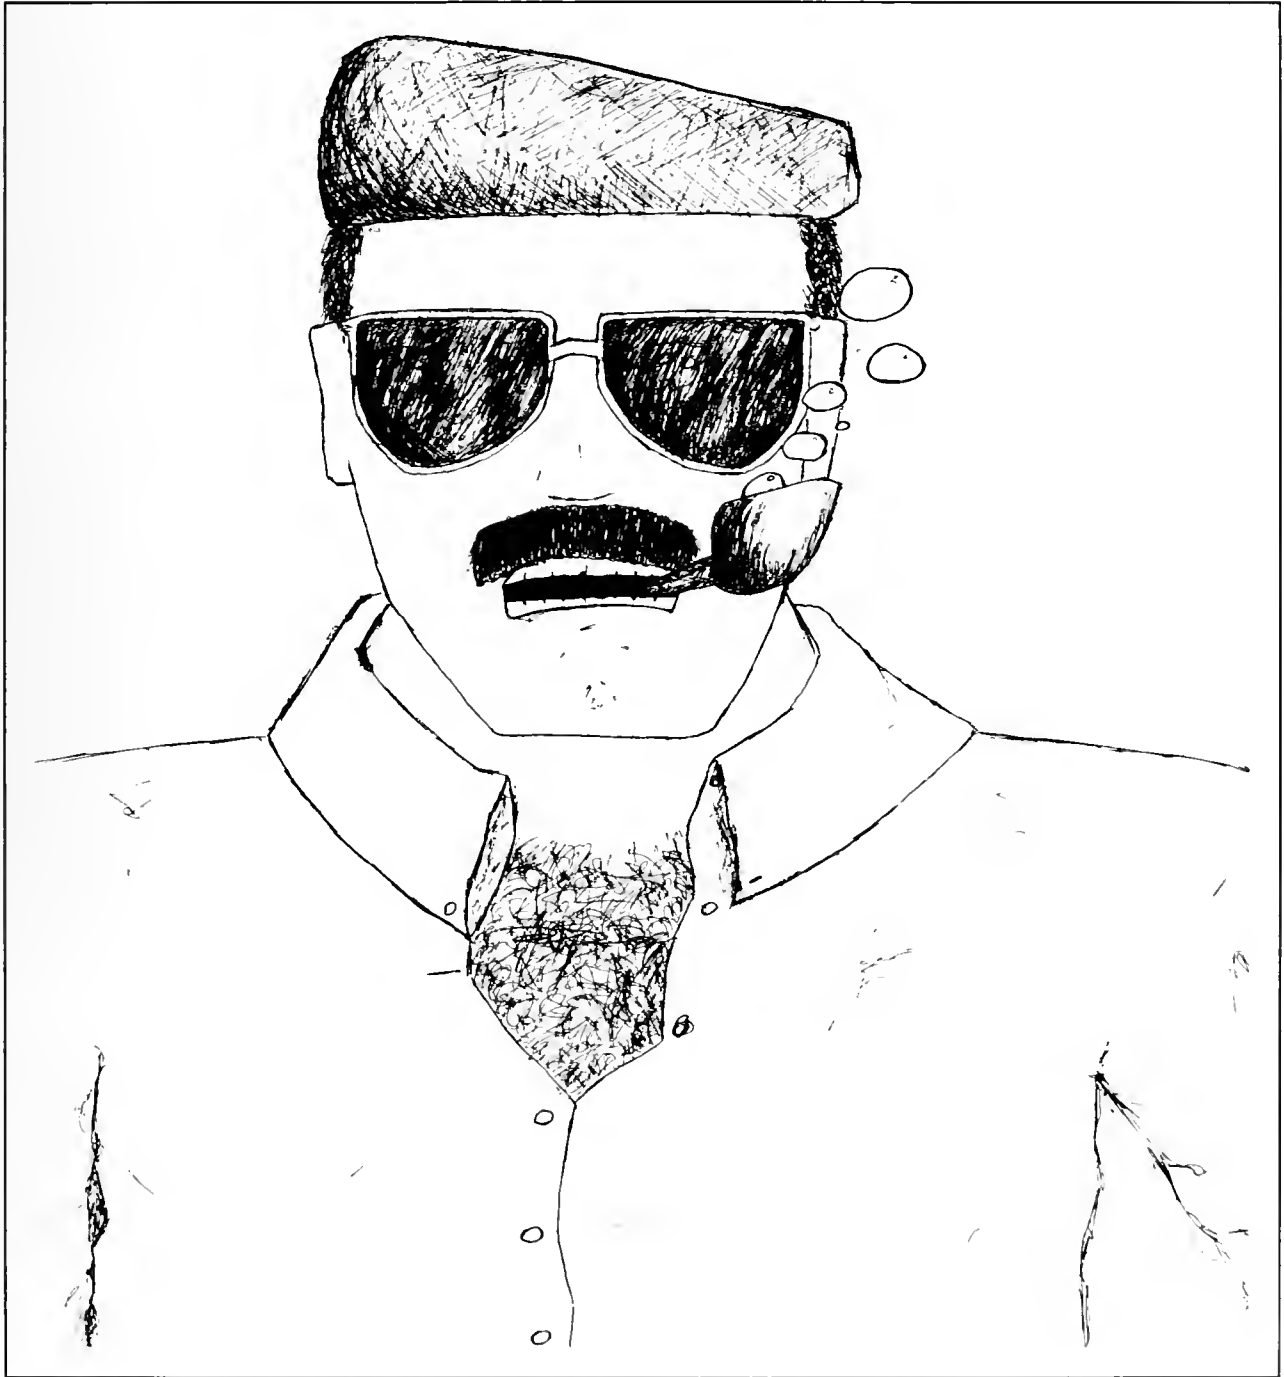

"Those are the new frosh???" Sarah and Trish look pretty thrilled...

Oh, yes, Matt Barton feels the link (Student council introductions during frosh week.)

FROSH ORIENTATION

You're in the Army now!

Jes Lamothe's Journey to the Twilight Zone

Stepping through the great glass doors into the twilight zone of college. AHHHH! Strange beings known as OBC students running at you in flocks yelling your name. Nervousness seeps through you with a glint of red. But...your mother is still there protecting you, for about five minutes, that is. Then, finally, total independence. But, then again, we're not totally independent. We're Frosh! We've got all the big theological scholars above us. Of course, we don't mind because they look out for us.

Being a Frosh at OBC has been totally primo. Everyone has been really friendly and we haven't gotten initiated. Even though I'm a non-student, OBC has suckered me into the family. It's sooo wonderful! I guarantee I'll be here for quite awhile. So OBC, you gotta get used to me and the rest of the Frosh!

Psalm 139:23,24

Search me, O God, and know my heart, test my thoughts; point out anything you find in me that makes you sad. And lead me along the path of everlasting life.

Love, Jes Lamothe

Coming to OBC doesn't always mean you can kick all your bad habits, right, Melissa?

The queen of the twilight zone..

...and her ladies in waiting.

(tl) Jen Heideman and her straight-edge crew

(ml) Kevin Obel - the loner, the rebel

(tr) Just what is Mike doing?

(bl) Nat notices he's wearing more blarney than Jenny

(br) Hey, look at me - I'm pretty funny, huh?

(1b) The student leaders seem to think Jamie needs a lot of help

(1c) Sarah decides to run away from registration. Dave does too. The frosh don't look impressed

(2a) The student leaders seem to think Jamie needs a lot of help

(2b) Catherine, the student leader, is a bit of a mess. She is a bit of a mess. She is a bit of a mess.

Bla Bla Bla Just a Bunch of Pictures

(1) Alexis glared at me for two days after I took this picture. But the person who could paint such a masterpiece should have some recognition for the work, don't you think? Well, I'm going to go now and wait for my black eye.

(below) Well, Mike seems pretty content with his new job. Rumour has it he's also selling heavy metal albums, but those are kept in "the secret van". (See Mike's IDID put you in the book.)

(mh) Picnics with Heather are always enjoyable. She's so kind and helpful. (For all of you who didn't attend, this was taken at "Poetry in the Park" in September.)

I've met friends here whom I love, and will never forget. You have helped me to see who I am and have opened me. Thanks for sticking it out through the good and the bad. Much laughter has filled our sorrows, but I can't wait to laugh with you in heaven!

Ecc 12:12b - "of making many books there is no end and much study wears the body." As graduates, each of us has learned the discipline of learning and that this knowledge lends itself to favorable ministry. But lets never forget that it's all worthless in light of our relationship to God and our devotion to Him. Without this adoration for the King of kings and Lord of lords all that we do is meaningless.

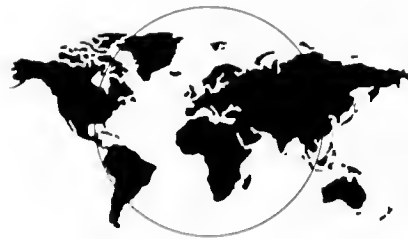

-Mike Fritz

In coming to OBC as full-time students, my wife Jennifer and I have proven God, and as promised, He has opened the windows of heaven and poured out blessings upon us that we cannot contain. He met all our needs, gave us the grace to study, and blessed us with Godly Profs and friends from every tribe and nation. He is still, indeed, the same way-making, God-of-the-impossible today, as He was yesterday and will be tomorrow.

The ones who actually posed!

You may be wondering why I used a bunch of older pictures of the profs. In addition to wanting to look creative, I had a bit of difficulty getting the profs to pose for the yearbook. For example, Paul Friesen absolutely refused to pose unless he was on somebody's shoulders (see page 41), or making a goofy expression. Can I tell you a secret? Quite often, here in yearbook land, we have to use the same picture several years in a row. Dr. Duez is the King of this. So now I'd like to thank those who did pose... Well Done!

The Dorms of OBC

Those Smashing Young Ogres...

Greetings and Salutations. Well, this year was a great one for us RAs because we made a great group of friends. Very few of us will forget the endless political debates that always seem to spring up at 1 in the morning. Many of us came and went, but we all got to know each other quite deeply. The one word that seemed to epitomize our dorm, however, was warcraft.

How many times do you yourself recall walking down the hall and hearing, "Yesh mi Lord" or "For the King" or "Awaiting orders!" I venture to say that very few of us in south didn't get addicted to that game at some time or other. Wee little creatures on the computer that would say funny things if you touched them too much. Joseph managing to kill off the entire dorm's armies before they could even get enough farms built.

Yes, those were the addicting times of south.

There were many things that made south, south. The submarine for a fridge. Along with many others. There were countless other things. Though we didn't see eye to eye on many things, we will always remain close Ogres. And a smashing young bunch of Ogres at that.

South

Four North — to some this dorm is a source of NOISE (we'd rather think of it as musical diversity — Tiffany to Petra, Hip Hop to Hard Core), to others North is where that “smell” comes from, but to us ... this is HOME: a place where assassins and grapplers headed for the Ultimate Fighting Championships are trained, it's where the Pope lives, and it's the only place with a bathroom stall rivalry — the 3rd stall and “ghetto bunny” VS. the 4th stall and the never seen “Essex county justice league” comic. But let us end with this: when in doubt forward all your mail and phone calls to rm401, remember that onions are the fruit of the ghetto, and may you NEVER find a tarantula skin in your soap dish.

-Hey Dorothea-I mean Dottie-I mean, oops sorry, DOROTHY.
-And finally: We have yet to find out YOUR most embarrassing moment, Christine...?

Ladies of 5 South: Thanx for the memories. We love you all dearly in the depths of our hearts. Never forget that "Whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, do it all for the glory of God." (1 Cor. 10:31)

Oh yeah...and one more thing...

5 South 5 South 5 South 5 South

5 North 5 North 5 North 5 North

What can we say about 5 North? First, we think that you are all beautiful women who have a lot to offer. God has given you amazing gifts.

Some have named North the REPEL ZONE. For those who don't know, well I guess you'll have to ask us! People have come from many different places- all the way from Drumheller, one from the army, the HUGE town of Keswick and many from Hamilton. With Babe walls, playing Grease over the phones as well as other messages, life can be interesting in North. Of course we still have turtles, street runs, U2, late nights in the Kat, email, work in the hallway, messy rooms (we won't mention who it is- Dana, Anna and Samantha!) Sarah and Jen have left us with our very own ghost room. We also have a token prankster... Robin!

Don't forget: Slinkys, Cinnabons, Kerri's generosity, Elmo, Jessica the esthetician, Renee the photographer, sparkles, funky outfits and hairdos. Our prayer times and dorm meetings have been great. Singing praise songs in the hallway is always a good time. We've had our share of phones that don't work and sinks that don't drain and we can't forget our favourite exploding toilet!

Girls, you're the best! Every one of you has contributed something irreplaceable to our dorm. We are presently looking at a picture of you all stuffing your faces with chocolate cake... somebody's birthday? No, that's just what we do in our spare time. It has been fun. Looking back on the year, we have implemented our own unique set of quiet hours. The outcome? Whenever we feel like it. What does the R.A. do when she hears loud voices and laughter coming from just outside her door? She opens the door and finds noone there but one last body flying through the air into the room across the hall and echoes of slamming doors. It HAS been fun.

With Christy's pet snake and Cathy's curiosity, North life has been awesome. Thanks girls, for a great year- we have thoroughly enjoyed getting to know you, hanging out and goofing around when we do find the time! Keep living in the hope of Christ's return. Remember our verse from 1 Cor. 3. We love you very much.

Christy and Cathy.

Cathy Vanderlaan and Christy Teal, the galactic overlords of 5 North.

A Modest Appraisal of Life in the Sixth South
1997/1998

What Wonderful words from pen or from mouth, would be required to describe the gentlemen of six
south!

Their warmth, their concern and their energy to spare,
permeated the halls of the school everywhere.

Striving for excellence, commitment untold;
humble and meek, courageous and bold.
Loving and kind, noble and wise;
The gentlemen of six south are incredible guys!

Paul Sakasob, RA extraordinaire.

Paul and his admirers: Duane (unofficial dorm member), Trent, RJ and Steve. Missing? Just a few...

6 North

He will make the feeblest and filthiest of us into a god or goddess, a dazzling, radiant immortal creature, pulsating all through with such energy and joy and wisdom and love as we cannot now imagine, a bright stainless mirror which reflects back to God perfectly (though of course, on a smaller scale) His own boundless power and delight and goodness. The process will be long and in parts very painful; but that is what we are in for. C.S. Lewis-Here Christianity.

Oh my dear fellow heiresses of the kingdom. What words could I say to give you a greater awareness of God's tremendous love for you. You are His daughters. Everyday He is bringing people and situations into your life to make you like Jesus. One day I will stand with you and as we look on the glory of our Saviour we will be changed! Press on girls...WOM HAH! I love you. -Sarah

Scenes From the October 18th, 1997 Country Fair

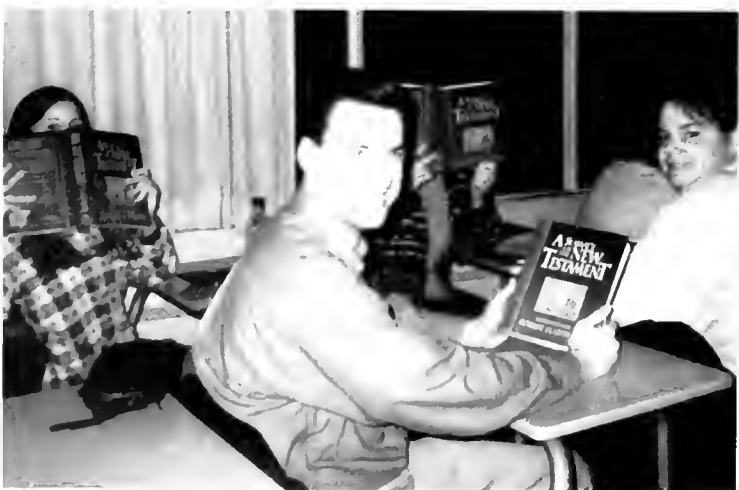

Scenes From Real Classrooms!

(l) These people look a little suspicious. And what is Dave doing, anyway? There's that Helga. She looks as grumpy as usual.

(below) Mike plus jellybeans equal mayhem. Helga seems to know some drinking songs. Don't tell anybody, ok?

(l) Don't put it all on me, I'm the principal. Different behavior in my class.

(above) This man would die if he ever had to part with his Gandhi book. I sure know how he feels. I felt that way about Dallas once.

(above) These people just LOVE 3 homing classes. This is just before the aerobics section of the class.

People With Functioning Social Lives

(tl) Vanessa, Cathy, Joel and Dave made quite the scene renting a limo to go to "Phantom of the opera". And they looked beautiful too!

(below) Thomas and Adriana Francois stop to accept a box of chocolates after a day of wedding festivities. Congratulations!

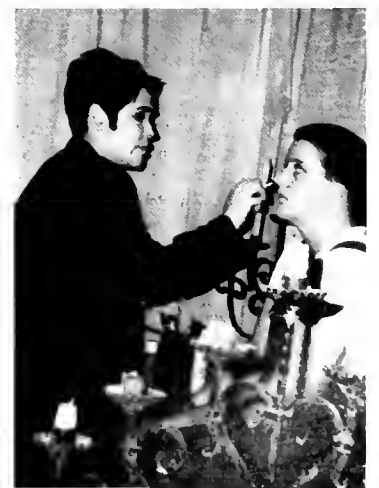

(ml) Even OBC students are interested in things like X-Files season premieres

(above) Obviously Vanessa has a great social life since she's on this page twice, eh? This is Vanessa at her birthday party at a local Italian restaurant, September 4, 1997

(above) Brad Gibson finally gave in and followed the pattern of Ontario Bridal College. Best Wishes Brad and Momique!

(above) Andria had her make-up done for the first time in her life. This was at a Bridal show downtown and it was great! If you don't believe me, ask Nancy

ZZZZ...

(tl) Student leaders need sleep too. Especially Makarios

(tr) This girl can sleep through anything. It is really quite remarkable. Welcome to OBC Dana!

(ml) Don't let this harmless looking creature fool you. This guy is the meanest guy in the school. Really. (Hi Matt!)

(mr) Sarah's probably dreaming about big trucks. Doesn't everybody?

(br) Commuters often find the Katimavik a little too cozy. I wonder if she falls asleep in class. I bet teachers hate that.

(bl) Jenna has put a lot of thought into being dangerous. To fall asleep in the Katimavik Photographers are really nice. We sometimes kick people.

(br) He's not actually sleeping. He's just want to look cool. He'd like to improve on.

The Joy of Firedrills at OBC

(tl) You have to look cool during a fire drill. This guy certainly won't be doing any panicing. Nope, not him.

(tm) Hey, I hope those people aren't comparing exam answers. Sharolyn does not tolerate that kind of behaviour. She'd be pretty mad.

(tr) 5 seconds later Beth Posterski is in her Wonder Woman outfit and is ready to fight evil fires. Steve feels bad in situations like this because his superpowers are all in his hair. Tough break.

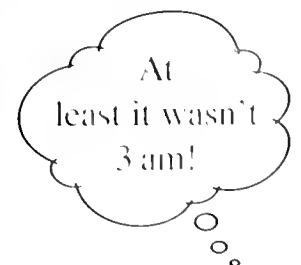

(ml) Jen hasn't come out for a cigarette, it's just for a fire drill. However, you can't be too sure with Adam.

(mr) Librarians get really angry during fire drills. Can you spot an angry librarian? Gee, it looks like Christy is playing "patty-cake" with Karl. Drawing a crowd too, I see. Well, whatever passes the time.

(b) It is so nice to see that in the midst of rushing back into the school people are still kind enough to pose for a poor, lonely photographer. What a wonderful world.

(b) Now these people can finally go to the bathroom. No, I'm not being rude. It's true. Had you been there you would have known.

SIBLINGS!

(tl) Who knew that these two little angels would grow up to be Jessica and Jennifer Lamothe. (Thanks for the photo, Jes!)

(tr) Jessica and Jennifer Lamothe in all their wacky glory.

(ml) Robin and Jenny are twins, but you wouldn't really know it, would you?

(mr) I can't see a difference, can you see a difference? (Sorry, it had to be said) Mike and Brian aren't even identical twins.

(bl) Keri is like a mom, but that's not to be putted. (What?) Keri has no idea how difficult it is to get pictures of the girl. Here she is with her older sister Holl.

(br) People don't realize this, but Keri is a very good dancer. (Oh that's right.)

(cover) This is Angela and her brother Josh. They apparently have never seen a camera before. "Whieee! We're in the yearbook!"

(d) The Whitmore clan. OBC mafia at its nastiest

(blw) Which one is Samantha Karr and which one is Sarah? This pair is identical as opposed to Mike and Brian.

(f) Ever had the feeling your sister was a clown? Jen and Martina Heideman

(fl) Vanessa's sister Angela looks REALLY thrilled to be in the yearbook.

...Beefcake

The next generation of OBC talent...

Well, not really, we're talking about Beefcake here, four guys with an affinity for hardcore. The lineup is rounded out by Doug Nagy - bass guitar and boat repair, xNick Bechardx - guitar and smooth talking, Jay Berei - drums and equestrian, Dave Blondel - vocals and microwave cookery. These fellas are about bringing the finest grade of hardcore to the masses while conveying a positive message through their music. Beefcake also tries their darndest to maintain a strong Christ-like representation throughout the hardcore scene. Through the hardcore sound, Beefcake hopes to introduce Christian thought and insight to those who may not otherwise have a chance to hear it. This lively bunch of heroes can be seen late at night miling about within the Solar Cow room, the Solar Cow room being popularized by fellow Glam rockers Who's The Man. (Beefcake owes it all to you fellas). They appreciate the support... so cherish this yearbook because one day Beefcake will be as Bono once said, "Bigger than U2". Thanks...

Yearbook Staff...

Lana Baglole,
staff advisor

Karen Miller, co-editor

Lucy Miller, editor

It has been quite the year, hasn't it? Through all the tragedies and triumphs we've grown a year older and (hopefully) wiser. Sometimes I wondered what I'd gotten myself into, but with some slight difficulties (deleted pages, strained deadlines, sports team photo problems, and a lack of grad write-ups) I've managed to pull off my first yearbook. It was more fun than I thought it would be. I hope you like it too. God Bless!

THANKS

To God for considerable grace
To Lana for help beyond the call of duty
To everyone who ever wasted a lot of time watching Dallas
To the South Park crew: Beefcake!!!

To Doug: Always distracting me, but helping me in a million ways (hi Gert!)
To Kerry for the “secret swaping”, piniata memories and making sure my photos were well looked at

To Deb “Mediocre” Miller: You Rock! Thanks for the last minute help

To my family: Sorry about the short christmas

To Shauna and Herff Jones for their work

To Ron Piggott for saving the computer

To my fellow student’s council members for putting up with the mess and for their complete (?) faith in this project

To everyone who gave me pictures, took pictures for me or picked them up for me: Cathy, Dan, Deb, Angela, Katie, Anna, Jaclyn, Andy, Nancy, Matt, Robin, Vanessa, Doug and Holly

To everyone who actually entered my little photo contest

To all those who gave me lists of names

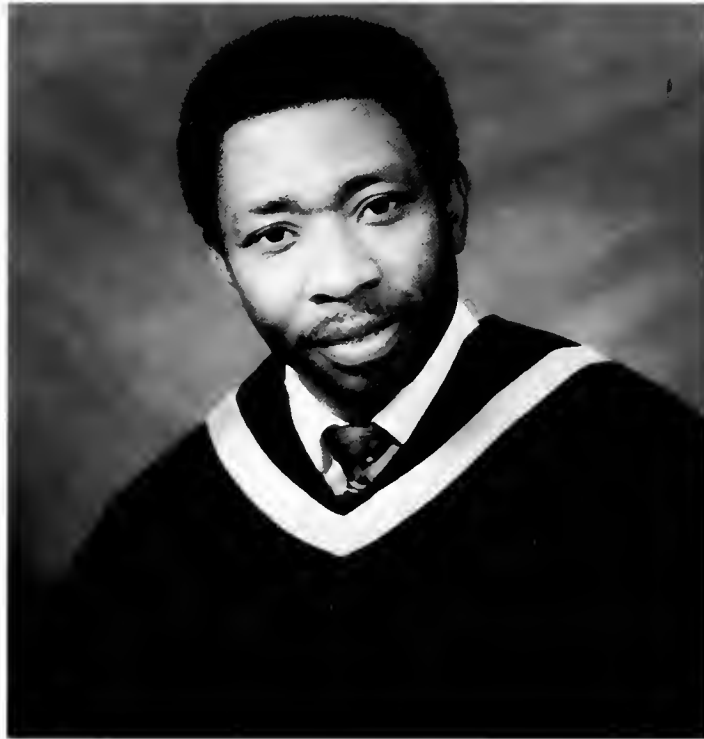

To Dave for helping with some captions, ideas, and being athlete of the year

To Alexis for not suing me (right?)

To OBC for the opportunity, and anyone else I missed
